

Search Everything ▾

What can we help you find?

Culture > Wine

HÔTEL DE PARIS MONTE-CARLO/PHOTO BY VENT D'AUTAN/MONTE-CARLO SOCIÉTÉ DES BAINS DE MER

WINE

9 of the Largest Wine Collections in the World

BY NICOLE SCHNITZLER | 5 MIN READ

MARQUÉS DE RISCAL/PHOTO BY MEG BAGGOTT

Marqués de Riscal’s “Cathedral”: 130,000 bottles

Between a luxury hotel, spa, and Michelin-starred dining, there’s ample reason to visit the Marqués de Riscal City of Wine, one of the oldest and largest wineries in Spain’s Rioja region. Founded in 1858, the winery sprawls across three buildings, and includes the original Bodega 1860 cellar. Guests can view its “Cathedral,” a private collection of bottles from every vintage since the winery’s first 1862 harvest—just a sample of its full inventory.

COURTESY OF RESTAURANT LATOUR

Restaurant Latour: 100,000 bottles

Situated on the four-star Crystal Springs Resort, this New Jersey restaurant (also a Wine Enthusiast Restaurant Hall of Fame honoree) gained a reputation over the past 15 years for its seasonal New American cuisine. The biggest draw, though, is its wine cellar, a nine-room maze with more than 6,000 labels that focuses on France, Italy, and California. Guests can tour the inventory daily, or book a private exploration of the Bordeaux or Grand Cru rooms.